Recall Election Set For May 23rd

Prosecutor's Fate En Route To Voters

By Joe Schrader

Whether or not Crawford County Prosecutor Thomas E. Kent will continue on as the area's chief law enforcement officer will be decided by the electorate. An attempt to gain a recall election was successful when County Clerk Leo Lovely was notified by letter dated April 4th from State Director of Elections Bernard J. Apol that the election would be held on Tuesday, May 23rd.

The letter to Lovely said, in part, "Will you please implement the necessary procedures provided by law to accomplish this request. This will include the preparation of the ballot."

The dispute over Kent's competency as Prosecutor has been brewing since late last year. Displeasure over his performance the recall faction followed disclosure that Kent and his law partner and Asst. Prosecutor Alton Davis were partners in a Gladwin firm who gained a contract with the state to construct a new Social Services Building west of Grayling. Public anger over the building site, some five miles from town, prompted an in-depth review by the Social Services Board, and ultimately led to a decision by the State to re-let bids for another building location.

Apol's recent letter included a decree from Richard H. Austin, Secretary of State, calling for the special election, substance of which read as follows:

"This office having canvassed the petitions praying for an election for the recall of Thomas Kent from the office of prosecutor of Crawford County, and having determined that the petitions contain a sufficient number of signatures of registered electors residing in the county of Crawford to comply with a statutory requirement;

Therefore pursuant to Section 963 (2) of the Michigan Compiled Laws of 1970, as amended, I hereby issue the call for a special election in the county of Crawford to be held on May 23, 1978. This call is being issued for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the county of Crawford the question of the recall of Thomas Kent from the office of prosecutor of Crawford County.

The petitions submitted to the State reportedly contained the signatures of some 740 registered County voters. Basis for the request for a recall election were outlined in the recall petitions and included the following allegations:

1. That Kent has dismissed and plea bargained criminal cases without sufficient cause.
2. Is inexperienced, ineffective and ill prepared in court.
3. Is consistently unavailable to citizens and law officers.

4. Used his office and time for his own financial gain on the Dept. of Social Services building project and leasing.

Kent has consistently defended his performance in office, has vowed to fight the recall effort, and outlined his position in a series of recent articles appearing in this newspaper. A public outcry of "conflict of interest" was leveled against Kent concerning his participation in the Social Services Building project, a charge that was recently dismissed by Attorney General Frank Kelley. Kelley's opinion was handed down in a letter to Kent dated March 21st, clearing the prosecutor of any wrong doing in the building dispute.

County Clerk Lovely has also been directed by Elections Director Apol to request from Kent "a statement of justification of his conduct in office."

So after several months of community controversy and haggling, it appears the dispute is heading for its conclusion, one which will be decided by the qualified electors of the county. We can only encourage you to exercise your legal right to cast a ballot, as we would in a general election, when the polls open May 23rd. Lovely has estimated the cost of the special election at about $4500. Nonetheless, maybe we can bury this un-needed public controversy to rest-six feet under-once and for all.

This Young 4-H Group on the Move

By Joe Schrader

Bill and Carolyn Boone have an exciting 4-H program going here in Crawford County. You think of 4-H's as a group of older youths, right? Wrong-not this group. Dedicated to the spirit of developing "better love for their fellow man and pride in their community," their club is made up of seven members, the "senior citizens" of which include two nine-year olds. The rest are under seven years old. And are they active! Under the Boone leadership, the group meets once per week, not only to participate in a variety of projects, but also to enjoy 4-H soup!

The youngsters are now involved in a program to study Crawford County's past history. The group embarks on a new adventure each week, recently witnessing a wood carving demonstration while visiting older building throughout the Grayling area. They've even made some home-made soap. That's soap, not soup. Now they're involved in an innovative project to construct a totem pole. Each 4-H'er will have his own 20-24" section on which to

From Our Corner....

Crawford County, like every other part of the country, is besieged practically every month with some sort of drive for money to take care of our less fortunate, health and tragedy wise.

Crawford County has taken upon itself a drive to raise $15,000.00 to assist one of our own less fortunate, Susie Smith, in her battle against cerebral palsy. The response from clubs, organizations and individuals has been overwhelming in their efforts to add to the fund.

This drive is typical of the people who live here...possibly it is because we are fortunate to live in a small town atmosphere where you practically know everyone.

In the past couple weeks we have watched the progress of another drive for monetary help. This one seems to be lagging behind its projected amount needed.

We speak of R.I.F. Reading is Fundamental, and its goal of $3,000.00 to help the students of today, with whom our future is in their hands...help today assures a tomorrow.

There is no way a price can be put on a book...only because there is no way to measure the knowledge each individual gains by being able to read.

Support R.I.F. along with Susie...both need your help.

An idle thought...this has to be an election year, only because we knew we were not very popular...but now, it seems like every day someone wants to meet us—or we receive a portfolio in the mail from someone we didn't even know existed.

These political offices must be lucrative if all stays true to form, Michigan will need a billboard for ballots just to take care of a couple of openings in the high political circle...at the present there are only a couple in the race for drain commissioner, surveyor and dog catcher...but then it's still early.

Would you believe...someone asked after last week's issue was on the stands if "Irvin is Servin" paid us for all the ink he is getting because they heard he was going to run for an extra term at the high potentate of the Boosters? No way...he doesn't even offer an orange pop.

Seeing as how you didn't ask...I presume we'll have to come right out and tell—we spent the week-end in Traverse with you guessed right, T.J. and Stef, and found out Stef shows no partiality...she destructs at home as well as away.

Another idle thought...we have to wonder how long it is going to take before all the bureaus take over our state...they have a strange hold now...but then it will eliminate elections.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

Punishment For The Mark Of The Beast

Revelation 14:9-11

Those during the Great Tribulation who take the mark of the beast to buy or sell will spend eternity in Hell. This is Bible fact, not human doctrine.

There will be no exceptions: "If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, the same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God." "If any man" gives a universal appeal to all men to listen. God's wrath will be poured out without mercy: "which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation." Any man who follows the satanic trinity will come under the full wrath of God.

There will be terrible torment: "and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb: And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever." Fire is one of the most painful things man knows. Fire which produces smoke upon contact with the body is certainly producing torment. Smoke from their torment which ascends up for ever and ever implies an indescribable amount of pain. It takes a lot of smoke to ascend up for ever and ever.

There will be no rest: "And they have no rest day nor night." Many religious liberals and cult groups totally reject any concept of eternal torment or Hell. They try to explain it away, ignore it and avoid it, yet the Bible makes it very clear and real. The very fact they are heading for Hell makes them even more eager to avoid facing the reality of it. Many of us have seen people suffer and die with terminal cancer. As horrible as some pain in this life is, nothing can compare with the eternal pain of a burning Hell. There will be no drugs or sleep to ease the pain. No rest even artificially produced. No end in sight. No let up in the fire. No consuming of the body. Nothing but pain and more pain for all eternity.

Wouldn't a man be a fool to go to a place like that if he could avoid it? Yes! But, Hell will be full of fools who have chosen to reject our Lord Jesus Christ and take their chance in Hell. Men are choosing where they want to go. You can tell by the way they plan for the trip which direction they have chosen. (adv.)

Sweet Adelines Activities

Mid-Mitten Chapter held their Wednesday night rehearsal, April 6th, on stage at the Roscommon High School. Much work was done on our competition songs to start polishing them up for the big weekend May 5, 6, and 7th. It takes much concentration to remember everything and hopefully it will all come naturally to us before we perform. This year we are performing on a stage that does not have a curtain so this involves getting on risers and getting set to sing in front of the audience. Even though the lights will be dim we still should do it gracefully!!

Sunday, April 2nd, we had a coaching session with Fred Kienitz and our Director John Noteware. While a few girls were unable to attend due to our changing of dates, those girls in attendance put in five hours of hard rehearsing and accomplished much. You leave these sessions tired but satisfied that it was really worthwhile.

Final preparations were made for our Gong Show being held April 8th.

"Make sure your car insurance protects you in 'no-fault' states."

"If you're planning on a long trip by car, chances are, you'll be driving through states with 'no-fault' insurance laws.

"If you're covered by an Auto-Owners policy, you can relax. Auto-Owners provides protection automatically under its bodily injury and property damage liability coverage in 'no-fault' states.

"This kind of far-sighted protection is just one of the reasons we recommend Auto-Owners Insurance to the people we serve."

Claims

rence in case you have some questions).

There are four things that cause most claims problems and hold up prompt payments. They are:

1. Insufficient information as requested on the form.
2. Lack of Medicare Health Insurance Claims number.
3. Claims filings for non covered items.
4. Lack of signature.

The Request for Medicare Payment (SSA Form 1400) is filed only for coverages under your Medicare B (medical) insurance with the government. All Medicare A (hospitalization) claims are filed by the participating providers.

Your main concerns under Medicare B (medical) coverage are whether or not your physician was accepting assignment in your case and obtaining proper documentation for claims filings in case he doesn't.

If he does accept Medicare "assignment"—that mean he will handle your case for the amount allowed for his services—your job is simple. The physician will fill out the form, you sign it, and he then sends it to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan for review and payment.

In this case, your physician or provider will receive 80 percent of the amounts payable for his services from the government, and you will be responsible for paying the remaining 20 percent of the bill. If your doctor does not accept "assignment" he cannot charge you more than 20 percent of the allowances approved by Medicare, provided you have already paid out your $60 deductible.

If you haven't paid out that deductible, he may charge you more—but not any more than your $60 deductible, plus the 20 percent.

If your doctor won't accept the Medicare assignment, oftentimes, he will agree to file the claim form for you. If he will not file the claim form, you need to obtain the required information.

The claim form is specific in the information requested. You need the date and place of each service, a listing or description of the services performed and a description of the illness or injury for which you were treated. Obviously, you also will have to list the charges. Don't worry about the procedure code, the people at Blue Cross and Blue Shield will take care of that.

There are two ways to get this information (1) ask the doctor or provider to fill out the lower portion of the claim so that you can file it for reimbursement, or (2) request an itemized billing showing all of the needed information.

In either case, you should file the claim with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan as you receive the services. Do not hold bills and file at year's end.

There is one exception to the above statement—those persons covered by the railroad retirement program file their Medicare Part B claims with the Travelers Insurance Companies located in Lansing, Illinois. Travelers is the area carrier for persons protected by the railroad retirement plan.

Next, make sure you have provided all of the requested information and make sure you sign the claim and include that all-important Medicare insurance claims identification number. Many claims payments are held up just because a Medicare patient didn't sign his name or include that number.

File your claim for only those services covered under Medicare. Admittedly, this sometimes is difficult but your doctor's office staff can help you if you ask them to use an asterisk or underlining to mark covered services when they present you with the bill.

Use your Medicare handbook for a reference and check with either your local Social Security Administration office or the nearest Blue Cross and Blue Shield branch office for assistance.

Medicare Part B won't make any payments until after your record shows that you have paid out that $60 year deductible for covered services.

The name of the game in filing Medicare claims forms is keeping a record of your expenditures and also keeping a record of when you have filed the claims. After all, it's your money.

In case of the death of a Medicare patient, the person filing the claim (if the doctor does not do this) must submit two forms—the regular claim and a form called "Statement Regarding Medicare Payment for Medical Services to a Deceased Patient." These forms can be obtained from your nearest Social Security office. You must also submit proof of payment.

(Next—Medicare Part A Hospitalization)

Grayling CO-OP News

Board members, new & old, held the monthly meeting Wed. April 15th.

The nursery has a lot of activities coming up in the future, we will be having a nursery School Round-up and open house June 7th at 7:00 P.M. We hope to have both returning and new parents attend. Anyone that has any questions about our nursery or would like to enroll your child for next year can do so on this evening.

Again, this year we are planning a Santa's work shop, and we will be working on this over the summer. We are also planning a luncheon for the future, date and locations will be given later.

We are also going to hold a $100.00 food drawing, groceries will be from the Foodland, and the drawing will be during Mill-Town Festival. This year the nursery will be represented in the Mill Town parade, this is something we haven't done in the past and we are sure the kids will love it.

Because of activities at the Elementary School on the 12th the general meeting has been changed to the 26th. So those that have raffle tickets still out have one more week to sell them instead of turning them in!

Support your new board—Attend the general meetings. Carol Thompson

Bits O' Talk

By Fay Bovee

Spring brings clean-up time and this week's bouquet goes to two people who were picking up trash along M-72 in front of the Georgia-Pacific building last Wednesday morning. The city crews are also sweeping and cleaning up. Thank you everyone. Two homes that are being sided are the Ruth Corwin home on Ionia and The Bill Hunter home on the South Side, both looking very nice.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whaley and family traveled to Washington, D.C., for their Easter vacation and had Easter dinner with a cousin of Loretta's. They also visited Gettysburg on their trip. Mrs. Jim Wittse had a weekend of reminiscing when three of her high school graduation class visited her and her husband on April 12. Visiting were Sister Helen Louise of Lansing, Virginia Cummings and Bernadine Fish of Mount Morris. One of them she had not seen since 1935, so there was a lot of catching up to do.

Mrs. Barry Bartelli returned Sunday from a vacation in Nashville, Georgia, where she visited her mother and also in Florida. She was accompanied by Mrs. Max Martin and Mrs. Al Tokar of Newberry.

May 13 is the Big Day! The Joe LaGrow family have moved to 844 Robin Hood Lane and are busy remodeling.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scheer and Laurie and Kelly flew to Bradenton, Fla. on March 18 to vacation and visit their son, John. Kelly returned to Big Rapids earlier and Phyllis and Laurie returned a week ago Monday. Bill is staying on with John a few more days before coming home. Grandpa Jack Scheer will be celebrating his 92nd birthday on April 30 and for anyone wishing to send him a card before he returns to Grayling shortly after the first of May, his address is Ohio Trailer Park, Box 12-184, Sarasota, Fla. 33578. Happy Birthday, Jack!

Ron Latusek & Kim Peterson spent 2 weeks in Fla. recently. While there, they visited the William Hart family of Treasure Island. Gary & Denae Fox met them, and they spent a week sight-seeing around Orlando. They were all surprised to run into some friends from Clawson, MI (formerly from Grayling). Dan Moore & Donna Stewart.

The Fox's went on to New Fort Richey, visiting with Gary's grand-parents. Mr. and Mrs. Hearsey Saunders, then to Lakeland, visiting Denae's grand-parents, Henry Lukis.

Tickets on Sale For Meadow Brook Presentation April 25

Tickets for the Meadow Brook Theatre's touring comedy hit "The Male Animal" are on sale now. Meadow Brook Theatre will give two performances of the comedy at Roscommon High School on April 25 at 1 and 8 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased at Roscommon at: Roscommon Hardware & Gifts, The 5c to $1 Store, The Barn Swallow and Kirtland Community College; at Higgins Lake at: The Roscommon State Bank.

"The Male Animal" is an outrageous comedy about football and campus politics at Midwestern University (a thinly veiled parody of Ohio State) on the eve of the homecoming game against the Michigan Wolverines. The struggle of an embattled young professor to save his marriage and academic freedom is developed with the wry hand of one of America's favorite humorists James Thurber and the comedic savvy of Elliott Nugent.

The performance of the Meadow Brook Theatre's production of "The Male Animal" in Roscommon is sponsored by The Roscommon Chamber Music Society Arts Council, and made possible by a grant from the state legislature through the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Secret trial dangers

Closed court sessions
threatening public

Richard Milliman

Concern mounts in this and some other corners over what seems to be a growing tendency for judges to slam the doors on their courtrooms and to conduct criminal trials in private.

Several examples of closed-door court sessions have emerged in Michigan in recent months. One case involved an Oakland County priest and sex with a young boy; another centered on a woman teacher charged with sexual adventures with one of her male students; a third involved a Wayne County school administrator and yet another young male student.

In each of these cases, the judge shut out the public—and the press—on the basic premise that justice would be served better by privacy.

The orders for secrecy generally followed such reasoning as this: Publicity would lead to unwanted and unwarranted sensationalism. The age of some of the principals dictated privacy. Young witnesses would be scarred by testimony in open court. The defendant's right to a fair trial would be endangered by scorn and ridicule which open court would produce.

In one case, the judge decided that open court might encourage unwarranted accusations from other students which might well be untrue and unfounded, but could be viciously damaging to the defendant once made.

A couple of larger Michigan newspapers went into court to seek to keep the trials open, and wound up by fighting for the principles involved. The Michigan Press Association, in one specific case, also entered the controversy on the side of openness.

I can't really argue with the truth of any of the judicial reasoning cited here for closing the courtroom. Sex cases are damaging to just about everyone involved, regardless of the guilt or innocence of the defendants. The victims of sexual offenses suffer the most, of course; but so do the accusers, and the witnesses, and the defendants, as well. All the relatives of those involved are hurt, too.

In each case cited above, unusual sex was involved; in Michigan, judges have the discretion, under certain circumstances, to close the courtroom upon the request of certain of the principles.

The press is naturally interested in seeing that courtroom proceedings are open, and I join in that concern. It's not for the oft-cited reason that "sex sells newspapers" either. That's not why the press is fighting the closed court; sensationalism and pandering to the baser tastes of the reader are deplorable anyway, in my book.

The real problem is that once the theory of secrecy in the court system is accepted, it can lead to an erosion of the protection the court system is supposed to provide for the individual.

The Constitution of the United States sets some very rigid standards demanding open government—"Congress shall make no law...abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press..." That includes courtrooms.

In my view, this same Constitutional guarantee carries with it some fundamental obligations for the press to respect; one of these obligations is the duty to defend the freedoms the Constitution provides.

The primary point in all this discussion centers on the ultimate protection of the rights of the accused; this ultimate protection should not be comprised by the immediate fear of the damage public disclosure might inflict.

If the court embraces the right to close doors, then the guarantee of a fair trial is jeopardized. The concept of the open trial is central to the concept of legal equity and fairness. If the people can watch what's going on in court, as in other public arenas, then the chances of fair treatment are much more secure.

Consider a hypothetical case: You are accused by a public prosecutor of a crime. You can't afford your own attorney, so the public judge appoints your counsel. This same judge then conducts your trial, without a jury, and behind closed doors. It could happen here.

That's just the type of "justice" we read about in totalitarian countries.

Or consider the current case of Sami Esmail, the Michigan State University student tried in Israel as a suspected terrorist. One of the greatest fears expressed by Esmail's backers was the closed courtroom—secrecy during the trial.

When the court closed its doors—in Israel or in this country—the chances for a railroad job are much, much greater.

Open court sessions frequently bring undue hardship and dangers to those involved, especially in the sensational atmosphere generated by sexually oriented trials. The individuals involved can be damaged greatly, and this fact is deplorable.

However, closed court sessions can be misused to cause much greater hardship, and the dangers that secrecy in the judicial process pose are of much more severe consequence.

That's why courtroom secrecy should be regarded as a cancer that threatens the health of the general public.

Feldhauser-Hale Vows Spoken

Better late than never...are the wedding pictures of Thomas Feldhauser and Linda Sue Hale, who were married on Sept. 17, 1977, at St. Mary's Church, Grayling. Almost 100 pictures of their wedding were lost from a Chicago photo lab and through the perseverance of Mrs. William T. Fish of Indian River, Fla. and Funia Gorda, Florida, part of the pictures have finally arrived at the Norman Feldhauser home in Grayling.

In late Sept., Mrs. Fish received some wedding pictures in place of her own scenic Upper Peninsula pictures. She wrote to the photo lab twice but received no reply. On further examining the pictures, she noticed a legible license number on the streamer-bedecked auto. With the aid of the police, the car license number was traced to Barbara Carlson in Walpole Lake. Mrs. Fish wrote Barbara describing the pictures and Barbara tentatively identified them as the Hale-Feldhauser pictures. Because they didn't want anyone else to be disappointed if they were the wrong pictures, the Feldhausers told no one. In a few days, on April 3, 31 of the beautiful pictures arrived, seven months late.

The families are extremely grateful to Mrs. Fish for her time involved and perseverance in locating the rightful owners, as well as to Barbara Carlson for the part she played in turn. They are hoping that someone else may have found the group of scenic pictures belonging to Mrs. Fish or the rest of the wedding pictures belonging to Mr. and Mrs. T.H. Feldhauser of Little Lake, Mi. 49833.

Father Nels officiated at Tom and Linda's wedding last Sept., assisted by Deacon Dan Bonner. A reading was given by Terri Dunham, sister of the bride.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hale of Wilcox Bridge Road and Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Feldhauser of Ogema Street. Maid of honor was Karen

Attend Kirtland "Harvey" Play

On Wednesday, April 5, 1978, Mrs. Bovee, Mr. Hayes, Mrs. Vkers, Mrs. McEvers, Miss Vargo, and Mr. Brengle, and their classes attended a play titled "Harvey" at Kirtland Community College.

It took three busses to take all of us. When we arrived at Kirtland, we ate our lunch on the bus. After lunch we all went into the auditorium. When we were settled in our seats the play started. There were five women and six men in the cast. Harvey is a make believe rabbit 6'1" feet tall and as white as snow. Up over the stage were big spotlights to shine down on the stage for light. When one act was over the cast would turn a big thing around. It was called a revolve. The revolve is what the scenes are on. After the play we went back to Grayling.

Frederic Homecoming Committee

The Frederic Homecoming Committee met March 28th at the Frederic Town Hall. The fireworks were ordered. Ballots will be out around the end of the month for our new Royal Family. This will be our Primary Ballot. It's a good time to start thinking about who you'd like to have represent Frederic for this year.

Also we would like to have your suggestions for Citizen of the Year. Think about who has worked hard for the betterment of Frederic and the surrounding area. A space will be provided on the ballot for your suggestion. A logging contest was discussed, also slow pitch softball tournaments. Our next meeting will be April 25th at the Frederic Town Hall at 7:30 P.M.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

When we went for our walk today, the air was mellow and the sun was warm. The girls ran ahead, glad to be free of their winter bundlings. I followed more slowly, admiring tiny green shoots poking through the earth.

Any suddenly shouted, "Come quick! I've found a birdie's house."

"It's called a nest," corrected big sister Jane.

We admired the eggs and the nest and then moved quickly on, to the relief of the mother bird. There followed a marvelous discussion about mother birds and their offspring and God's plan for their welfare.

It was a rare moment. Later, I thanked God for my church, which has helped me teach my daughters to look for God's goodness everywhere.

Your church has many resources and is eager to help with your child's Christian education. Shouldn't you take advantage of it?

Par For The Course

by Fay Bovee

If the enthusiasm which greeted the opening of the club house last Friday is any indication of things to come, it should be a "swinging" summer. Over 100 members turned out for the social hour and to meet Tom and Sandy. A most enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent renewing friendships. At dusk about 13 deer came out to feed; it's always a thrill to see them.

Assisting in the serving of refreshments was Donna Denton, whose smiling face will be around all summer, and Sis Burr, who helped out tremendously in helping everyone get started. Thanks to Rich Burr for helping Tom and Sandy the previous evening.

Arnold and Pearl Tucker, who are chairmen of the social activities, were on hand to greet people. Also in attendance were president Pres Slack and his wife Marjorie and the Balos who helped. Thanks to everyone for coming.

Gary McLaughlin, mens' league secretary was much in evidence as he went around signing up teams. He has already surpassed last year's number of teams. They're looking forward to a good season.

Tom and Sandy have done a tremendous job of getting the clubhouse in order and have brought in their own collection of plants adding a decorative touch.

Tom and Pres were overwhelmed by the turnout of new golfers, old golfers, and the "I want a few more pointers" golfers who signed up for the adult community education golf class. The 62+ people had to be divided into three classes meeting on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

NEMCOG Develops Technical Service To Local Governments

Rodney E. Parker, Executive Director, Northeast Michigan Council of Governments (NEMCOG), has announced the development of a technical service to local units of government in Northeast Michigan.

The program will assist local governments in the development of personnel systems through a program of preparation of job descriptions, job factors, wage surveys and analyses, job ratings, pay plans, and personnel policies and employment manuals. This project will make available a service to local units of government which will complement personnel systems, and, upon request, will establish such systems in areas where they do not presently exist. The project will also upgrade existing systems to meet Federal requirements contained in the Fair Labor Standards Act, Equal Opportunity Act, and the Equal Rights Amendment.

Technical assistance encompasses a wide variety of activities and will provide another approach to meet local management needs. Local officials and their staffs will be directly involved in the development of their respective programs. This assistance will be provided by Steven B. Perry, NEMCOG's Management Analyst. According to Perry, local governments have been contacted, a call for projects has begun, and preliminary questionnaires have been distributed.

Included in the activities offered through this service are assistance in inventorying local units of government present staff and position structure, assistance in the analysis of criteria to determine recommended job classification, assistance in writing job descriptions, and eligibility criteria, wages and salary analysis in line with job descriptions and eligibility requirements, using a point factor system, assistance in the development of fringe benefit packages and comparative analysis, and assistance in publication of personnel systems documents.

The project will provide a mechanism for intergovernmental cooperation.

Editor's Mailbox

Dear Sir:
I am writing this letter in regards to the headlines in one of our weekly newspaper which read "DENIAL OF CONCEPTS HITS GRAYLING AREA IN POCKET-BOOK". Well isn't that too bad, it should be hit them in the seat of the pants if that is all they can think about.

First of all does our local Sheriff Dept. have the man power to handle a influx of 56000 extra people, personally I think they have enough to do now. Secondly I think our drug problem would be greater, but on the other hand if we made any drug arrest they could always get off for Disturbing the Peace. I think its about time the Chamber of Commerce, Grayling Merchants and the GRA starts thinking about bringing jobs to the community instead of always the business mens pocket.

Now I think its time to take our hats off to the State Military Board for saving our community

Arbor Week April 16-22 Celebrates Michigan Forests

Lansing--Governor William G. Milliken has declared April 20 as Arbor Day and April 16-22 as Arbor Week in Michigan, a time when citizens traditionally reflect upon the importance of trees as valuable renewable resources.

His declaration says, in part, that:

"Michigan is uniquely blessed with an abundance of green and beautiful forest land--land that has been the basis of great industry throughout our history and contributes much to the splendor of the Water and Winter Wonderland."

"As the population of Michigan and the nation has increased over the past few years, so has the need for lumber, industries such as housing, recreation and paper are in-

Grayling Student In
MTU COOP Program

Houghton-Donald V. Smith, a mechanical engineering junior from Grayling, is presently participating in the cooperative education program at Michigan Technological University. This program enables students to obtain practical working experience in an industry which pertains to their major study.

Smith is employed by the Scott Paper Company located in Oconto Falls, Wisconsin. Those activities are protection of forests and related resources against fire, insects and diseases, management of the state forest system, assistance to private forest landowners, and long-range planning.

Funding for the DNR forest management program comes from several sources: a revolving fund based on state forest timber sales receipts; federal grants, which help support fire protection, assistance to private forest landowners; and forest resources planning; and several line items from both state and federal funds. Last year, $3.1 million was spent on operation and improvement of state forests.

During the past five years, legislative appropriations for several elements of the program have increased significantly.

"In particular," Webster says, "forest cultivation has been initiated and developed with an appropriation that now amounts to $1 million per year; new aerial photographs are being made, the cost being paid by a coalition of public agencies and private firms; and a statewide forest survey is being intensified and improved with a combination of federal, state and private funds."

Webster points out that Representative Russell Hellman of Dollar Bay has played an important part in the development of the state's forest resources.

"Representative Hellman has played a vital and primary role in making appropriations available and in enacting our forest management program," he says.

"The DNR's forest cultivation program involves management practices designed to hasten growth, increase quality, and assure regeneration."

"As in a home garden," Webster says, "there is a need for soil preparation, planting, thinning and weeding. All of these practices are being carried out on sites where conditions promise good results."

According to Webster, an annual diameter growth increase of up to 40 percent has been observed in hardwoods treated under the program.

"Practices aimed at increasing output of softwood timber have been added to the program more recently," he says, "but response cannot yet be measured directly."

He notes, however, that production can be expected to increase by 2 1/2 to 8 times over untreated stands of timber based on the experiences of other regions in the country with similar programs.

The forest cultivation program, is an investment, not an expenditure, he emphasizes.

"Financial returns of up to 15 to 20 percent per year have been found in analyses of these kinds of investments made elsewhere," he says.

Timber harvesting is a major component of the economy in northern rural areas of Michigan.

"Employment associated with state forest timber cutting, hauling and manufacturing into lumber, paper, board and other primary products raised the value of timber harvested in 1977 to $139 million," Webster says.

"Further processing of intermediate products resulted in an estimated final consumer expenditure of $242 million."

Webster estimates that the benefits to the state's economy resulting from timber sales equate to nearly 120 times the value received from stumpage. An increasing demand for fuel wood as an alternate source of energy is having an effect on the DNR's forest cultivation program.

The effects of fuel wood demand became evident last year, Webster says. As fuel wood becomes more valuable, the cost of our treatment program is reduced.

Currently, about half of the forest cultivation budget is spent on thinning of northern hardwood pole stands. Second priority is given to regeneration of jack pine, a species of increasing value."

Other cultivation practices include the release of conifers from competing low-value hardwoods, access road construction, conversion of poor quality stands to more productive species such as red pine and hybrid poplars, and fertilization.

It's that time of year again, the time when Grayling High School students are preparing their annual spring musical. This year's production, "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," will be presented in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium on May 4, 5, and 6. A special premier performance, for invited guests only, will be presented on April 29.

The cast and company has been rehearsing for six weeks, while the production staff and crew began work in early Feb. Students rehearse many hours each day, crews work hard on scenery, lighting, make-up preparations, and all the other areas essential to the production. Despite the many complications which arise and the hard work involved, everyone enjoys themselves very much.

Tickets for "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying" go on sale April 15 at the Grayling Pharmacy. Cost is $2.00 a seat and all seats are reserved.

4-H Group

Each has a special design. When completed, the quilt will be displayed on 4-H achievement day when each member will be judged on individual designs and handiwork.
